Welcome Back to the New Semester – AY2017

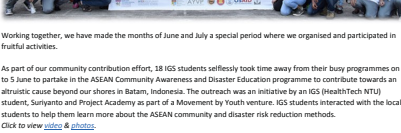
Dear IGS Supervisors and Students,

A warm welcome to everyone as we enter all-new semester 2017 at NTU! Wearing our NTU identity with pride, we have the pleasure of coming to represent the school as one. It is with great enthusiasm that we embark on our journey into an inspiring educational, research life and programme that has been thoughtfully lined up to make this a fulfilling year for you.

With promises of a diversity of meaningful opportunities, we believe students and faculty members alike can look forward to a whole new experience of friendships that renders nothing short of exciting rapport and company.

This year, we put our best foot forward once again to make every person's journey at NTU count. Let us guide and help one another along this purposeful exploration of discovery and wisdom!

Creating a Unique Community Moment



Working together, we have made the months of June and July a special period where we organised and participated in fruitful activities.

As part of our community contribution effort, 18 IGS students selflessly took time away from their busy programmes on 2 to 5 June to partake in the ASEAN Community Awareness and Disaster Education programme to contribute towards an altruistic cause beyond our shores in Batam, Indonesia. The outreach was an initiative by an IGS (HealthTech NTU) student, Suriyanto and Project Academy as part of a Movement by Youth venture. IGS students interacted with the local students to help them learn more about the ASEAN community and disaster risk reduction methods.

Our school community is not neglected either as a group of dedicated IGS student leaders have pledged to serve the student community in the new school year. Not forgetting the IGS Summer Retreat 2017 highlight which happened on 15 July, where new and old friendships were forged and revived.

A Memorable NTU IGS Convocation

31 July 2017 marked one of the proudest moments in our school as we conferred doctorate degrees to 61 deserving graduates who have displayed adept competence in their respective thematic research disciplines.

Extending a Warm Welcome to the New August Cohort

For this coming new school year, we are delighted to accept a new cohort of 42 students into our big family as part of our August intake. We believe that they will find much joy in their learning journey from their seniors.
